ABOUT ME

I am a passionate and detail-oriented UI/UX designer with a strong interest in creating intuitive and visually engaging digital experiences. I enjoy transforming ideas into clean and functional interfaces that make technology easier and more enjoyable for users. With hands-on experience in designing website layouts, wireframes, and interactive prototypes using tools like Figma, I focus on building designs that balance usability, aesthetics, and performance. I also have a growing understanding of front-end technologies such as HTML and CSS, which helps me collaborate effectively with developers and understand how designs translate into real products.
